GALLAWAY & ERATING. . DECEMBER 20, 1878 FRIDAY.

THE CITY DEST. The meeting at the Greenlaw Operahouse on Wednesday night last was most gratifying, as it indicated the possibility of adjusting the indebtedness of the city without resorting to that fearful and horrid alterna tive, a repeal of the city charter. The speeches were in admirable taste. There was some disagreement as to details for action, but there was singular ementmity in the opinion that something must be done to save the tax-payer from the burdens of taxatio which, if continued, would amount to conlication. John M. Les, of Nashville, but a large Memphis real-estate owner, spoke noble nature. He seemed to be actuated solely by a desire to do justice to both parties-justice to the bondholder, and at the same time resent the tax-payer from the mælstrom in which they will be plunged if not relieved. The speech of B. M. Estes was admirable in taste, and took the correct view of the situation. He said "he desired to offer to the bondholders another compromise. If the people of Memphis do not seek sit in this case. a compromise, and fall to show a disposition to do what is right, the legislature will fort to seenre a compromise with the city's sition taken by the Appeal two weeks ago, and writ issues, commanding the act to be done. The people of Memphis will watch with eager anxiety the deliberations of the meeting to be held on Saturday right. Every tray payer in Memphis should be present. Those not owning real estato are equally interested, as the pressure upon real-estate owners is much as possible to the State practice in the State practice in the State statutes, they do have ple of Memphis. We shall, therefore, on a proper of Mr. Hilton's money, after the state statutes, they do have proven the hald put upon the whole Jewish community by refusing Mr. Joseph Seligman and his family adminance to the Grand Union hotel at Saratoga. Subsequently it was represented that by doing this offense might be given to Mrs. Stewart, who, so far as known, was not a party to Judge Hilton's action in regard to the Grand Union hotel. It was pretty generally agreed, however, that if the money was accepted at all it must be from Mrs. Stewart, and a prominent Jewish lawyer, said: "At Stewart's death all the prominent characteristic propers of the concerns and the contributions of the officers of the concerns the contributions of the with high part the contributions of the officers deals of fund their debt during the time specified in General Humes's resolution, any effort to repeal the city charter will be deleated by the peal the city charter will be deleated by the propose to harrass the tax-payers with manpropose to harrass the tax-payers wise mandamuses, the city charter will be repealed, in a condition to be harmssed by remorseless creditors. If the city charter should be repealed, some provision should be made for pealed, some provision should be made for protecting those who in good faith have funded their debt upon such basis as the exigency of the occasion demands. If the meeting on Saturday hight beliefs an agent or a committee to confer with the bondholders, it is thought that within thirty days most of the bondholders can be induced to fund their bonds. A public meeting was held by the tax-ridden people of Mobile a few days since. A committee was appointed to confer with A committee was appointed to confer with the bondholders and urge them to fund their debt. That committee reported to a subsequent meeting, and we make the following extract from its report:
